3 key objectives

1 Strengthen the quality of online learning

Through online identity verification and remote knowledge validation.

2 Improve accessibility to education

Allowing users to test anytime and anywhere.

3 Reduce the environmental impact

Reducing the number of cars traveling to test centers as well as paper printouts.

"24% Of the stakeholders in the EdTech sector consider access to education as the main opportunity to increase the participation of people in education, especially women who work or people who live far from educational facilities".

IDB and HolonIQ survey on EdTech in Latin America and the Caribbean.

* 30 seconds for Moodle Proctoring

FOR STUDENTS…

- Do the exam at home or at work;

- Use a proctoring service that works with suboptimal internet speeds;

- Use a proctoring service that is far less intrusive and does not discriminate;

- Rest assured that all of your data – all of it – remains in the EU.

If your students are at university…

(and also might have jobs, too)

FOR INSTITUTIONS…

- Scale up – you can have limitless exams and limitless students. No longer are you tied to exam halls, their schedules or their capacity;

- Open up distance learning to all students, including those cannot travel…make university truly universally accessible;

- Far fewer false positives…from a far better system;

- And all data – all of it – remains in the EU!
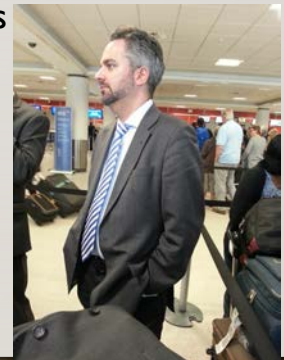

…Or are busy professionals with day jobs
